

ABSTRACT

By supporting distribution related to an overall business dealing among customers CMR, plural distributors including dealers SHP, and suppliers SPR with use of a computer system CS through communication network, the merchandise supplier side including the distributors SHP or WS and suppliers SPR can simplify its own merchandise distribution process and save labor required for tasks due for the merchandise distribution process, while the customer CMR side can simplify the ordering management, ordering operations and the like.